

Judi Rose

Right from early childhood I loved drawing and painting. Growing up on a country farm in Dorset meant that I spent a lot of time immersed in nature, which has always been the main influence in my art.

After University I worked in the Art department of a London college of further education where I was given the opportunity to combine work with the study of painting and other art modalities.

Landscapes and Seascapes

Now based in Albany and painting pretty well full time, I find my work much influenced by the rugged coastline, atmospheric skies and raw natural beauty found in this part of WA.

I like to use oils mostly and paint in an abstract or semi-abstract style to evoke the feeling of a place or impression of a mood rather than to create a realistic depiction.

I find much inspiration while out walking in nature, immersed in the landscape and absorbing the moods, patterns, colours and textures of my surroundings. Often I find these get translated into my paintings when I am back at home.

I love Plein Air painting and a sketchbook and box of watercolours usually accompany me to the beach.
